

ARTS EDUCATION FOR CHILDREN WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

All Classes provide a creative outlet for self expression. Parents/caregivers are expected to remain in class to offer encouragement and support to their child. Participation of the adult provides a wonderful opportunity for bonding and the learning of skills in a fun, relaxed environment.

CLASSES INCLUDE:

Creative Dance / Musical Moment / Dramatic Tots

These classes focus on one artistic style, allowing the student to grow their skills. Parents are neither expected to stay or participate in the class. With the help of our trained teacher assistants these classes have a ratio of 4:1.

CLASSES INCLUDE:

Music Makers / Dance Fundamentals

Classes are multi-disciplinary, creating a distinctive combination between two art forms. Parents/caregivers are not expected to stay or participate in class. With the help of our trained teacher assistants these classes have a ratio of 4:1.

CLASSES INCLUDE:

African Dance and Drums / The Drama of Dance / The Joy of Movement

The Performing Arts School at bergenPAC, in collaboration with Renee Redding-Jones of The Center for Life and Learning, is offering a full schedule of classes in dance, music and drama for children and teens with special needs. Being the education center of bergenPAC, The Performing Arts School, desires to continue and broaden its reach to include students with varying levels of ability. Taught by trained and experienced professionals, our smaller group setting will allow participants an opportunity to explore their artistic interests in a nurturing and stimulating environment.
