

THE ORADELL SEPAC PRESENTS

Homework Struggles and Learning Difficulties: What Parents Need to Know

Save the Date

---

7:30 p.m. on January 17, 2017
@ Oradell Public School

Guest speakers Dr. Rebecca Yun, licensed clinical psychologist and certified school psychologist, and Dr. Allison Egert, a dual certified speech and language pathologist and learning disabilities teacher consultant, will discuss important topics related to homework struggles and learning difficulties, including:

- * Typical homework struggles versus those that may indicate a need for intervention;
- * Early signs of learning disabilities and when to seek help;
- * What parents should do if they suspect their child has a learning disability;
- * What executive functions are and how they affect homework and learning;
- * Advice on how to handle homework meltdowns;
- * Accommodations and support strategies for students who have reading, writing, math, or executive functions difficulties; and more.

Registration information for this event is coming soon. Please mark your calendars to attend. Visit <http://oradellsepac.wixsite.com/oradellsepac> to learn more about the Oradell SEPAC.